To Whom It May Concern,

It is a pleasure to write this letter of recommendation on behalf of Kevin Worley. Kevin was a master's student in my Sound Design for Mixed Media course at Belmont University, where he consistently demonstrated a high level of dedication, technical aptitude, and creative vision.

Throughout the semester, Kevin proved to be an exceptional student. He approached coursework with enthusiasm and a solid work ethic, which reflected a good understanding of spatial audio principles.

A notable strength Kevin developed during his time in the program is his understanding of the Dolby Atmos mixing system. Because Belmont University houses an advanced cinematic Dolby Atmos theater, Kevin had the unique opportunity to work within a professional-grade immersive mixing environment. He took advantage of this facility, moving beyond stereo and traditional surround formats to learn object-based mixing and spatial positioning. His ability to translate creative storytelling choices into complex multichannel environments is impressive.

Kevin possesses the technical skill, collaborative spirit, and creative drive necessary to thrive as a professional sound designer and mixer. I recommend him without reservation for any audio or post-production opportunities he chooses to pursue.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions or require further information regarding Kevin's qualifications.
